

BELSTAFF

It's the experience that makes the difference.

We've added a unique, extra feature to every garment we make. It's called experience.

And you'll find it sewn right into every garment with the Belstaff label. You'll find it in the seams that are double-stitched where others make do with single stitching.

Which makes our seams exactly twice as strong as theirs. You'll find it in the reinforced seats and inside legs: the hardest-worked part of any motorcycle suit.

You'll find it in the sheer number of garments we make each year: so many that more people in more countries ride Belstaff than any other make of motorcycle clothing.

You'll find it in the number of professional riders who choose Belstaff over any other brand.

And that's what makes the difference.

Belstaff Trialmaster XL500 Suit (Centre)

It has all the style and most of the features of the famous Trialmaster Professional. Yet it comes in a heavy duty version of polyurethane-proofed nylon that's as practical as it is good-looking. Most of all, its trial-bred design shows through in the features we've built in to keep weather out. Choose XL500 in black, in red or in royal. And ride a whole lot warmer and drier.

Belstaff Trialmaster Professional Suit (Above)

The world's number one competition and touring suit. We take one of the toughest weatherproof materials there is. And add more sales appeal than any other motorcycle suit made. With double-sewn seams where others use single. With reinforcements at the shoulders, elbows, seat and inside leg.

And you can choose any colour you like so long as it's black. Or green. Or a rather racy red. The Belstaff Trialmaster Professional Suit. On or off the road, it's miles in front.

Belstaff Trialmaster Two-Fifty Suit (Left)

The famous Trialmaster name, but on a lightweight suit that's great for touring or commuting.

We make it in polyurethane-proofed nylon in a choice of royal, red or black. All the seams are not simply sewn, but solutioned and taped too.
