

MOTOCROSS CHARACTERS

Nº 6 the Pit Racer

There's one in every crowd. He's the guy who plays the part, knows all but never actually participates. He dresses superbly; only trouble is that he often goes to a MX meeting wearing his road racing outfit!

The herman look (hidden MX shoulder guards).
The symbol of verity - 2 weeltes stars
Badges showing the places he's been like Torquay, Bondi & Tasmania.

The proverbial chromed chain - proof of his visit to the hell's angle brawl at the 1971 Bathurst.

The damage caused by that 120 mph fall (that nobody saw). There's always a crash - a club foot is often said to be "THE INJURY"??

He's in the know he reads every copy of Modern Science mag.

Patent leather boots, the mark of a hero.

The flus always know where to land.

Peroxidized hair an obvious give away, undoubtedly a remnent of the surfer cult.
A bit of boot polish to form heavy growth, bikies are tuff (?)
A beauty spot!... or is it fly bag.?

He was at Vietnam too; of course.

His personal tools (chrome shifter, chromed spark plug, a beer can & program).

He's very particular not to choose a number of another active rider.

The best tool kit money can buy - only trouble is there's nothing in it.
